

PERSONAL MEDICATION DISPENSING CARD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A personal medication dispensing card capable of 5 being retained by an individual much in the same manner as a conventional credit card. The personal medication dispensing card is provided with a shallow recess in a surface thereof for containing a powdered or granulized 10 in that recess. A removable cover sheet is disposed over the recess and holds the contents in place. The medication or other substance can also be located on a surface of the card and covered by a removable cover sheet. When a user desires to consume that medication, 15 the user merely removes the removable cover sheet and typically licks the medication contained in the recess.